2004 Index

EDITOR'S NOTE: Health Affairs is pleased to offer this author and subject index, as we have done every year since 1981. We also encourage you to visit our Web site (www.healthaffairs.org) to take advantage of the search tools available to all site visitors. These tools include a database of all articles (searchable by keyword, author, date range, and section of the journal), Topic Collections of articles related to nearly sixty subjects, and reference management utilities. We have recently upgraded our Web search function to include a topic clustering tool called "Instant Index" to help you further fine-tune your searches. You can also create customized indexes on the subjects of greatest interest to you and can sign up to receive e-mail alerts when new papers are published on your search criteria or by the author, keyword, or Topic Collection category you have specified. Subscribers who have activated the online portion of their subscription have access to the complete twenty-three-year archive of back issues in full text.
